Additional Exciting News

I am pleased to inform you that one of our students Eliza Decaneas was accepted as one of the founding members of the Empowering Teens Through Health (ETTH) Youth Advisory Board.

As a member of the ETTH Youth Advisory Board, she will be working to enhance the implementation of health education throughout the district by providing feedback on the current health education curriculum and programs. Additionally, she will be collaborating to create health initiatives that positively influence the well-being of her BPS peers, through self-directed, project-based learning.

Congratulations Eliza, we know that you are a perfect candidate to be a board member of this initiative. You rock the house!
